CELEBRATION FOREST MAP

Our Roots

The inaugural planting of the Celebration Forest took place on a warm Sunday afternoon on May 29, 2011. Every year since, thousands of native trees have been planted in the Celebration Forest in memory and celebration of loved ones through donations to ReForest London. Every tree planted expresses our hope for the future and grows as a living legacy.

The Celebration Forest is an initiative of ReForest London in partnership with London Health Sciences Centre and St. Joseph's Health Care London. The healthcare organizations have designated this land to ReForest London for tree planting, as part of their ongoing commitment to the health of Southwestern Ontario's people and the environment.

Each planting year is honoured with a native tree species and identified with the tree species' name and leaf on the forest signage. The Silver Maple is the tree for the 2024 planting.

In A Forest Full Of Trees, No Two Leaves Are Alike

Each tree in our forest represents a community member who has dedicated parts of themselves and their lives to building our city and to sowing the seeds of a deep-rooted community. The diversity of our city's cultures, professions and ages, and the profound role of every member, is something we can see reflected everyday in the beauty and biodiversity of our native Carolinian Celebration Forest. May the honour of our loved ones be cherished as we grow into a healthy, sustainable urban forest.

ReForest London aspires to see our community thriving in a healthy urban forest, but we can't possibly do this alone. We encourage you to look around your own spaces - your yard, your place of work, your place of worship - and see where your touch can help our community thrive. The places to expand our urban forest are endless, if only we look. Every tree you plant will make our community greener and healthier, and leave an invaluable inheritance for the future.

Trees planted in the Celebration Forest support London's Million Tree Challenge, a community-wide challenge to plant one million new trees across the city. If you have planted a tree on your property since 2011, visit milliontrees.ca and register your tree.
